167 Nicole bought gloves similar to bloody pair

NEWS WIRE SERVICE

A pair of men's gloves bought by Nicole Brown Simpson at Bloomingdale's in New York is similar to the infamous bloody gloves found at O.J. Simpson's estate and the killing scene, sources told CNN.

Nicole used a credit card to purchase dark brown, cashmere-lined gloves during a Dec. 18, 1990, shopping spree in the city.

The $55 Isotoner extra-large gloves were the same ones an Isotoner salesman said O.J. was wearing seven months before the June 12 killings at Nicole's California condo, sources said. The man said he spied O.J. sporting the gloves, which are stitched with a unique V-pattern, on the sidelines of a pro-football game.

Jason Weisenfeld, director of public relations at Bloomingdale's said: "We were approached by, and are cooperating with, the Los Angeles district attorney's office and have no further information."

Sources close to the defense said they can "shoot down" any connection between the gloves Nicole bought and the ones found in California. They said there is no proof that Nicole even gave the gloves to her husband or that O.J. would still have them four years later.

Even if the link is tenuous, prosecutors can present this to jurors as an incredible coincidence. It also bolsters their argument that a killer wearing gloves in the heat of June had planned the crime.

"He had access to these gloves, that's the issue," sources told CNN. "He was a possessor of gloves that were similar in nature."

The gloves are a key piece of evidence against the 47-year-old football legend, who is accused of fatally stabbing his 35-year-old ex-wife Nicole and her pal Ronald Goldman, 25.

The defense has tried to get them tossed, claiming Los Angeles Detective Mark Fuhrman, who found the glove at O.J.'s house, is a racist who planted the evidence.

The revelation about Nicole's purchase casts a shadow on that theory, experts said.

Nicole apparently went on her 1990 New York Christmas shopping spree while she was married to O.J. and the couple was living the high life in a condo on the upper East Side. He was making Hertz commercials and hanging out at the Dakota Bar & Grill, and she was shopping on Fifth Ave.
